Elliott, general counsel, appearing for the Atlantic Coast Line, and Murray Allen, of Raleigh, for the Seaboard Air Line, in a united fight against the petition of citizens for station facilities. Backing the petition of citizens for the union station were Hon. Walter E. Daniel and George C. Gordon.

Their plea is inadequate separate station facilities and necessity of a joint station for the accommodation of the traveling public. The counsel for the railroad companies insist that the present facilities meet all present requirements and that the time has not yet arrived when the railroads should be forced to the great expense of new station facilities. The commission reserves its ruling.

TROGDON RESIGNS AS FEDERAL CLERK

Will Be Succeeded by United States Marshal Milliken, of Greensboro.

BITTER FIGHT PRECIPITATED

Unexpected Vacancy in Marshalship Causes Shake-Up in Political Camp.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
GREENSBORO, N. C., September 21.—An interesting political development to-day was the resignation of Samuel L. Trogdon from the office of clerk of the United States District Court, which he has held for eighteen years, and the announcement that his successor will be United States Marshal James M. Milliken, whose twelfth year of service as marshal will expire next January. The change is effective October 1.

The vacancy of the marshal's office a few months earlier than was expected by the aspirants for the place portends another bitter Republican factional fight, which is likely to involve all of the organization leaders. The chief bone of contention is the United States district attorneyship. State Chairman Adams, of Greensboro, and ex-Chairman Rollins, of Asheville, are contending for this place. The candidates for the marshalship are Bailey, of Madison county, the present chief deputy, McBarry, of Davidson county, ex-Chief Deputy Call, of Wilkes county, and McVeagh, of Alamance county. McVeagh, it is said, was promised the place when Adams was named for judge, but since Adams lost that by the appointment of Judge Connor, a Democrat, he claimed the district attorneyship.

Should McVeagh be appointed now as marshal, it would mean that the position of clerk, marshal and collector for this district will be massed in this end, with nothing for the Asheville section, and would necessarily favor Rollins's chances for the district attorneyship. On the other hand, could Adams get Bailey, a resident of the Asheville district, and brother-in-law of Judge Pritchard, appointed marshal, it would defeat the chance of Rollins, a son-in-law of Judge Pritchard.

Presiding this tangle and rivalry. United States District Attorney Holton a week ago announced that he would be an applicant for reappointment to a fourth term as district attorney, when his present term expires next February.
